This excellent corn grown this year of drought and heat, is certainly a fine advertisement for the banner county.

THE MO. NATIVES

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 15.—A bulletin of advanced information issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in relation to the population of Missouri gives the following interesting facts:

"Of the 3,293,338 inhabitants of Missouri, 2,222,925 were born here, 10,631 in other states and 229,775 in other countries. The percentage of foreign born is 7; of Missourians, 72.6 and of the born in other states, 20.4."

According to a table in the Bureau of Labor Statistics bulletin, prepared by the Supervisor of Statistics, A. T. Edmonston, Illinois furnish 186,691 of the present population of Missouri or 6.1 per cent; Kentucky, 2.5 per cent; Kansas, 66,751, or 2.2 per cent; Ohio, 54,616, or 2.1 per cent; Indiana, 44,247, or 2.1 per cent; Tennessee, 30,713 or 2 per cent; Iowa, 25,893, or 1.5 per cent; New York, 25,713, or 0.9 per cent; Virginia, 24,029, or 0.9 per cent; Pennsylvania, 20,249, or 1 per cent; Arkansas, 28,822, or 0.9 per cent; Nebraska, 12,733, or 0.4 per cent; Wisconsin, 11,370, or 0.3 per cent, and the remaining states of the Union, 106,441, which is 3.5 per cent of the entire population.

The New England States supplied Missouri with 10,219 men, women and children and the South Atlantic 51,127. From the Western mountain states there came 7,617 people bent on living in Missouri, and from the Pacific Coast 4,596.

Foreign-born men, women and children are not so numerous in Missouri as they were twenty years ago, the decrease being from 8.8 per cent to 7 per cent, this being due, chiefly, to the birth here of children to former aliens.

When it comes to foreign-born citizens of Missouri, the sturdy, progressive German leads all others, there being 88,224 such people in this state. Then comes Ireland, with 27,230 sons and daughters, straight from the Emerald Isle; Russia, with 21,401; Austria, 18,219; England, 15,751; Italy, 12,983; Hungary, 11,531; Canada, 7,961; Switzerland, 6,441, and Sweden, 5,654.

Turkey, in Europe and Asia, furnished Missouri with 2,954 people and the Huerta provincial Republic 1,812. Native Dutch are not so numerous as is supposed, there being only 988 here, but there are 1,125 born in Missouri with one parent from there and 819 whose mothers and fathers crossed the Atlantic for this side.

Ninety-Nine Japs in the State. Roumanians are more plentiful than those born in the other Balkan States, the number living here being 1,522.

Of the 2,222,925 native-born Missourians there are 206,177 with one parent foreign born and 342,027 with both parents from beyond the borders of the United States.

Of the state's population 157,452 are negroes, 313 Indians, 535 Chinese, 95 Japanese and 4 others.

Missouri, in case of war, could put into the field an army of 721,166 men between 18 and 44 years old, composed of 679,305 white, 41,441 negroes and 420 Chinese, Japanese, Indians and others.

The negro voting strength of Missouri, all males over 21 years, is 52,921, which is a gain of 6,593 over ten years ago. There are 973,062 males of voting age in the state, a gain of 117,378 in ten years.

For a further study into the sturdy qualities of Missourians, from a standpoint of age, 16.2 per cent of the population is between the ages of 25 to 44 years; 15.1 per cent, 45 to 64 years; 13 per cent, 65 to 74 years; 10.9 under 5 years, 10.3 per cent, over 5, but under 9 years, and 10.1 per cent between 20 and 24 years.

Of school age, inhabitants between 4 and 20 years, there are 552,998; but only 346,866 attend school; or 227,743 males and 322,123 females. Under 5 years there are 7,640 in schools as pupils, and over 21, 11,466.

In the early days of Arizona, an elderly and pompous chief justice was presiding at the trial of a celebrated murder case. An aged negro had been ruthlessly killed, and the only eye-witness to the murder was a very small negro boy. When he was called to give his testimony, the lawyer for the defense objected on the ground that he was too young to know the nature of man, death, and in summing him up asked: "What would happen to you, if you told a lie?" "The devil 'ud git me!" the boy replied. "Yes, and I'd get you," sternly said the chief justice. "Dat's just what I said," answered the boy.

"I wish I was a star," the dude sighed, smiling at his own poetic fancy. "I would rather you were a comet," she said, dreading. His heart beat tremulously. "And why?" he asked, tenderly, at the same time taking her unresisting little hand in his own. "And why?" he repeated, seriously. "Oh," she said with a brooding earnestness that fell freezing upon his soul, "because then you would come around only once in fifteen years." And he took his hat and went out into the shimmering moonlight.

Dave Anderson will have a public sale at his farm 3 miles west of Marshall Thursday, September 25. Read Mr. Anderson's advertisement in this paper.

Tid Bits: Two Irishmen were crossing the ocean on the way to America. On the voyage Pat died. Preparations were made for his burial at sea but the lead weights customarily used in such cases were lost and chunks of coal were substituted. Everything was finally ready for the last rites, and lo and behold, the Michael took at his friends finally he lurked out, sorrowfully: "Well, Pat, I always knew we were going there, but I'm hanged if I thought they'd make ye carry your own coal!"

Charles Howard, the manager of the Howard hotel, who has been suffering for some time with malaria, submitted to a very serious operation yesterday. Dr. Smiley of Booneville was the operating physician and he was assisted by Dr. John R. Hall and Dr. A. E. Connell. Mr. Howard is getting along as well as could be expected.

J. R. Solomon of the country north of Marshall was in the county seat Monday. He was one of the contestants in the tall corn display at Whisen's furnishing store today (Monday). His stalk measured 13 feet and 8 inches, two feet less than the winning stalk.

Mrs. J. W. Mitchell returned Tuesday from Independence, where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Llewellyn Jones for several weeks.
